It is important to maintain a level playing field and I'm sure that MSFT pushed the envelope....but:

try to keep in mind that no other platform, system, inter-connectivity is as productive as MSFT, whether student, business or military, its not even close! To even point students in the direction of Apple, Linux to some degree, is stagnating the analytical growing mind.

I started 35 yrs ago with a sliderule & punch cards, I know whereof I speak!
